Believe me when I tell you, I will try to understand The bond has been broken, the promise you gave I dreamed last night, you were there by my side

Believe me when I tell you, I could never kill a The words that were spoken, I cannot be your Your sweet loving ten-der-ness easing my man. But to know, that a- no- ther man's slave. But to know that the trust you had pride. But then I a-woke dear and hol-ding you tight. Hurts me little darling, thru the in me has gone. Hurts me little darling, thru the found you not there. It was just my old memory of morning thru the night. night time, thru the dawn. how much I cared
